

SCHOOL FIELD TRIPS

It is common for many tour companies to offer educational tours among a myriad of other services. Journeys, however, with its distinctive approach to tourism, is one of those surprising firms that takes pride in educating travellers through every tour it delivers, helping them understand and appreciate Singapore as a destination of crossroads, along with infinite possibilities.

Since 1995, Journeys and its associate firms have been leading the way locally in the fields of historical research and school heritage programmes. Our rigorously researched, topic-based field trips are designed to complement students' learning in the classroom and whet their appetite for further independent learning! Our extensive stable of programmes lend valuable insights into the diverse fabric of Singaporean society, both historical and contemporary, while our specialised guides, amongst them military historians, curators, researchers, teachers and writers, indulge their passion for bringing the lesson to life. What's more, our commitment to continuous research and staff training makes our programmes versatile enough to suit different levels from pre-schoolers to post-graduates. (Programmes for young learners are generally more illustrative and interactive with the use of stories, props and demonstrations to delight as well as to educate.)

Our specialty programmes include:

- Multi-cultural appreciation and immersion programmes
- Local and regional heritage from ancient history to modern-colonial period
- Military heritage talks and battlefield tours
- Urban development and social studies
- Asian civilisations studies
- Selected areas of research in public art and history
- Bespoke tours (half-day to full-day itineraries) for overseas school trips, drawing on material from topics listed above
- Orientation tours and exchange programmes to help acculturate students on short-term / long-term study in Singapore
- Selected industrial visits, inter-school friendship programmes and heritage tourism workshops

All private / bespoke programmes are subject to minimum booking fees and will only be finalised after consultation with the field trip organiser. For more information, please click to enquire.
